Your employer has implemented a process, called "mapping," through which your current account balance and ongoing contributions will be transitioned to the new investment options. The objective of the mapping process is to identify investment options offered by Voya that have similar risk and reward characteristics as the existing investment options. The following exhibit illustrates your risk and reward characteristics as the existing investment options. The following exhibit illustrates your employer's mapping decisions, and clearly shows the new Voya options to which your monies will map. After the transition period, you will have the opportunity to change your existing account balance and the allocation of future contributions to your own investment choices.
